

Rock Fans: Sing With Chicago and Fight Breast Cancer

Grammy-Winning Band Chicago and American Cancer Society Team Up for Third Year of the Hit Promotion

ATLANTA - February 24, 2012 - Chicago has teamed up with the American Cancer Society for the third year in a row to give fans a chance to bid to sing with the legendary "rock and roll band with horns" during their tour across the U.S. Fans across the country will be able to bid on a package that includes a meet and greet with Chicago, two premium tickets, backstage passes, and a special opportunity to sing the classic hit song "If You Leave Me Now" onstage with the band during the concert. Fans can bid in the auction at www.cancer.org/singwithchicago starting Friday February 24, and all proceeds directly benefit the American Cancer Society's fight against breast cancer.

In 2010, the band joined forces with the American Cancer Society, the Official Sponsor of Birthdays®, to create Sing With Chicago, a highly successful promotion that has raised over $130,000 to fight breast cancer. "The Sing With Chicago promotion was such a great time for our fans, and contributed so much to the breast cancer cause, that we wanted to do it on our 2012 tour, too," said Peter Schivarelli, Chicago's manager. "We're doing it this year in honor of our friend Paqui Kelly, the wife of Notre Dame's head football coach Brian Kelly, who is a breast cancer survivor."

"We so are pleased that Chicago is offering this amazing opportunity for the third straight year, and that the band remains dedicated to using their musical talents to help us create a world with less cancer and more birthdays," said Terry Music, chief mission officer for the American Cancer Society. "What an exciting way for our supporters to fight breast cancer and have a once-in-a-lifetime experience onstage with a legendary band."

This year's tour kicks off in the U.S. in Modesto, California on March 7. For tour dates, visit www.chicagotheband.com. The winners from the 2010 promotion were so moved by the experience that they launched the Facebook group "I Sang with Chicago", where they shared stories about their concerts, and videos of themselves on stage singing with the band. About the American Cancer Society

The American Cancer Society combines an unyielding passion with nearly a century of experience to save lives and end suffering from cancer. As a global grassroots force of more than three million volunteers, we fight for every birthday threatened by every cancer in every community. We save lives by helping people stay well by preventing cancer or detecting it early; helping people get well by being there for them during and after a cancer diagnosis; by finding cures through investment in groundbreaking discovery; and by fighting back by rallying lawmakers to pass laws to defeat cancer and by rallying communities worldwide to join the fight. As the nation's largest non-governmental investor in cancer research, contributing more than $3.4 billion, we turn what we know about cancer into what we do. As a result, more than 11 million people in America who have had cancer and countless more who have avoided it will be celebrating birthdays this year. To learn more about us or to get help, call us any time, day or night, at 1-800-227-2345 or visit cancer.org.
